Part 4 (Government revenues) contains comprehensive data on government revenues per revenue stream, according to GFSM classification.

How to complete this sheet:

1. Enter the name of all government Revenue streams for the extractive sectors, including revenues that fall below agreed materiality thresholds (one row should be used for each individual revenue stream and individual governmant entity)
2. Enter the name of the receiving Government entity (choose using the dropdown list. It will appear there since you have already entered the government entitiy in Part 3).
3.Choose the Sector and the GFS Classification this revenue applies to. Use the guidance provided in the GFS Framework for EITI reporting. If a revenue stream cannot be disaggregated by sector, chose "Other".
4. In the Revenue value column, enter total figure of each revenue stream as disclosed by government, including revenues that were not reconciled.
Remember: Governments receipts from companies on behalf of their employees should be excluded (e.g personal income tax PAYE, employee social security contributions, withholding tax) because they are not considered payments from companies to government.
5. If there are any payments which are in the EITI Report, but cannot be matched with the GFS categories, please list them in the box below called "Additional information".
If you have any questions, please contact data@eiti.org

GFS Framework for EITI Reporting

EITI Requirement 5.1.b : Revenue classification

What is GFS?

GFS, or Government Finance Statistics, is an international framework for categorising revenue streams so they are comparable across countries and time-periods. See full framework example below. The framework used below has been developped by the IMF and EITI International Secretariat.
The letter E in the GFS codes means that these are codes only used for revenues from extractives companies. The digits to the right were specifically designed for extractive sector companies.
